Trigt™ trigger by 2BOX

2Box releases a new line of acoustic drum triggers. The Trigt range comprises a stereo trigger for snare drum and toms, and a special trigger for the kick. Also a Trigt set will be available that comes with 4 pcs. of the stereo trigger and one kick trigger. The triggers are compatible with almost every electronic drum module on the market and offer a lightning fast trigger response, a natural dynamic range, and consistent trigger accuracy. More information on www.2box.se.

Our goal was to design a trigger that not only looks good on every acoustic drum kit but also offers a superior trigger performance. The new Trigt acoustic triggers are designed to give the drummer a long trouble free triggering experience.

The upper part of the trigger is extremely durable and made from satin polished metal that not only looks sleek but will not detract from the look of the drum kit. The trigger will sit firmly on the rim, and the rubber sleeve will avoid any unwanted scratches and also prevents the trigger from sliding.

The sensor cushion is made from a specially designed durable material that will always stay where placed and keeps the sensor in the right position. This guarantees a long-life use and a steady pressure on the head for a perfect tracking.

Unlike other triggers on the market the Trigt triggers come with our extensive long-life transducer sensor that offers a lightning fast response, a natural dynamic range, and consistent trigger accuracy. Thanks to the dynamic response of our trigger design, the trigger is able to track the playing from the slightest stroke to the hardest strike.

The Trigt triggers feature a standard ¼” stereo jack connector for a good reason. The jacks are approved for decades and offer great reliability also on a professional tour. The sideward placed position allows the cable to always stay in place.

Of course our new triggers are compatible with almost every electronic drum module on the market and let the drummer get the maximum of performance due to the superior trigger behavior. Obviously the triggers are optimized to match perfectly with our own open sound system - DrumIt Five Sound module.

There will be two versions of Trigt acoustic triggers plus a complete set of them.

The Kick Trigt trigger is mono and comes with a special plastic/rubber protection washer to protect wooden hoops from damage and to allow for a steady sensor position.

The Stereo Trigt trigger is designed to be used on snare drums and toms. Two independent sensors offer a separated signal for head and rim. This makes a natural playing with rim and head sound possible or gives creative drummers the opportunity to use two different sounds on one drum.

The Trigt trigger set comes with 4 pcs. of the stereo trigger and one kick trigger.

Along with the release of the new Trigt acoustic triggers there will be an updated OS for the DrumIt Five with additional features to optimize the trigger performance when connecting the new triggers to the DrumIt Five sound module.
